Select Poetry.

From the Irish Republic.

GOOD HEALTH TO HORACE GREELY.

[The Irish Republic was the first to nominate Horace Greely for Governor of New York, next year, or for January 1st, 1871.—The following lines are but the far-off echo of that most welcome nomination.]

With a glowing heart I greet you;
Dear old Ireland's friend and mine;
May God's guardian angels hover
Round that hallowed head of thine!
Here's to you and yours forever,
On this bleak December night;
For a nobler soldier never
Led the van in Freedom's fight.

When that wild wave swept o'er Europe,
Crushing thrones in Forty-Eight,
And arose proud fettered Ireland
All unarmed, but strong in hate;
With a pen and voice unpurchased,
And a purse of golden store,
He—the life-long friend of Eire—
Made us debtors evermore!

Have that honored name emblazoned
On your standards next campaign,
If you'd sweep the hordes of slavery
From old Gotham's fair domain,
For, as sure as poet speaketh,
And however streng the "slate,"
None but he can win the Irish vote,
Or save the Empire State.

Heaven bless thee, Horace Greeley!
Ev'ry day that kindly face
Lights the path of some crushed spirit,
Broken down in life's rough race.
Though my cup be Nature's brewing,
Cool and fresh from "Carroll Spring,"
Never, save, was toast more honored
At the banquet of a king!

WASHINGTON, D. C. FENIAN.

Correspondence.

For the Republican.

The Lamp-Post.

BY HUGH JAMES BENFIN.

"Well, my jolly old friend, said I, "you seem to be in high good humor, considering the ducking you are getting from this dismal rain. I admire your philosophy."

At this the little old gentleman shook his head and looked grave, and I thought that he in turn had chosen to take offence at my familiarity. He soon, however, resumed his jolly smile and spoke as follows:

"Philosophy," he exclaimed, "Philosophy, to endure this patiently? why, in comparison with some things that are transpiring on the earth even now, 'Bless me, this is pleasant,' as one of your poets so delightfully sings."

"My dear sir, you speak like one who has seen much of the world; like a man whose lot has been one of varied experience," I ventured to observe.

"My lot, sir," said he, "was, as the old maid said, 'not of my own choosing.' Providence, sir, assigned to me my sphere, and in it I have lived and moved and performed my work as best I could, a thing you cannot say," and the old gentleman looked sternly over his spectacles seemingly right down into the depths of my heart, until my conscience gave no several pretty severe twinges, after which he added, "Though I have been no great traveler, yet on account of my length of days, I have truly seen something of the world."

"Sir," said I, hoping to derive from him a story to relieve the tedium of the hour, 'would you be kind enough to relate to me some things which you have seen, in fact tell me the story of your life? I promise to be all attention."

At this the little old gentleman hemmed and hawed, shook his head, rolled his eyes, gurgled in his throat, and then said:

"All attention eh? You men are such singular creatures that I will venture my reputation, which is as unspotted as a lady's face fresh powdered, that before I have talked to you ten minutes you will be sound asleep, and leave me talking to be empty air.

I faithfully promised to listen with all attention, whereupon the little old man of the Lamp Post began his story thus:

"I will tell you my story then with all my heart as the young gentleman said when the young lady, in the theological disputation, remarked that man embraced the ladies also. 'With all my heart' said the young gentleman, and proceeded to illustrate her assertion. But to my story.

Not to keep you in the dark, which would be a very improper thing for a lamp post, I may as well inform you that I am by no means young in years, as you will doubtless have judged from my appearance. My earliest recollection dates back a hundred and fifty years. I seem to awake one bright sunshiny morning in spring from a long, long sleep, at this was, in reality, the beginning of my consciousness, for I was then but a young and delicate bud. Having since then studied the anatomy and physiology of my species. I have learned that I had existed for some time in an embryo state, and this was the time when I first burst upon the real activities of life.

The sun was shining so brightly above me, the birds were singing so sweetly around me, the brook was sparkling so brightly and trilling its beautiful lay so gaily beneath me, that I could not resist the temptation to join in with the general gaiety, so I burst into a hearty laugh, as I have ever since borne the reputation of being a 'good natured fellow,' as the farmer called his ox when he bent down his neck to receive the yoke.

For the Republican.

Letter From Howard Boro.

[The following communication was in type for last week's issue, but was unavoidably crowded out.—EDS.]

EDS. REPUBLICAN:—Believing our little "Berg" more fraught with interesting news this in-coming week, on account of the "Teachers Institute," your correspondent proposes to dot down a few remenisences of the town's past history, remarkable events enacted herein, etc., gleaned from the recollections of the "oldest inhabitant," and also, not being a member of the Institute now in session, to render a friendly and impartial criticism of that apparently august literary body.

Howard dates its history full three score and more years ago, and is described in Lippencott's Gazeteer as "Howardville—a post-village in Centre Co., Pa., on the Bald Eagle Creek and Canal, 11 miles N. E. of Bellefonte," was named with the township, in honor of John Howard, Philanthropist, and permit us to add to the above, by favorably comparing it with other villages throughout the State. True, all like it, have their old time "meeting houses," and little church yard, neat white cottages peeping out here and there through their screens of trees, vines and flowers; but few can boast of so fine a scenery—built upon a glade formed by a mighty wash of waters cutting a romantic precipitous narrows through the beautiful Blue Mountains which forms our boundary on the right, and by its variegated robe of trees and many-colored flowers, make more picturesque this little town nestling at its feet. On the left flows the Bald Eagle, whose waters commonly ripple in musical cadence over pebbly bottoms, with banks rimmed in moss, fermand willows; but occasionally is converted into an alarming, rushing flood, bearing destruction to many broad acres. The back ground of our scenery terminates in the pine-clad hills or head-lands of the Alleghenies.

Howard, morally, has seen many lights and shadows, and its people are equipoised in wickedness and godliness; but alike with their fellow-men elsewhere, have, too, had their allotment of joys and sorrows. Within the last six years, Howard has merged from the little post-village to a Borough with good macadamized streets, and well-laid board-walks in place of the almost impassible "mud holes of yore." The old slow coach-and-four that brought us our mails, and the old canal that brought us our stores, have passed away, and in lieu thereof, we have the iron horse and rails. The lumbersome old coach that rattled in clouds of dust through our streets, is but an institution in memory. But the dear old canal leaves us as a monument, its rusty and crumbling locks and empty grass grown channels, to remind us of a time when the tooting of the swearing boat-captain's horn created frantic joy in our urchin hearts at the prospect of sugar casks to gauge, and leaking molasses barrels to lick. Since then, Howard has grown apace, and quite a number of fine buildings have been erected, the most valuable of which is the brick flouring mill, the largest and finest in the county, owned by W. L. Gordon, Esq.

The town numbers about 900 population, having a fine school house 2 churches—Disciples and Methodist Episcopal; five stores, among the most enterprising of whom are Messrs. Lucas & Bro., Grocers; and of the medical fraternity we have Drs. Hentsyl & Dorworth, both good and successful Physicians. So, too, has the little church-yard grown, side by side with the town, and very many of the town's ancient oracles have found rest there; and scores of its people who have immigrated to the far west, still love old Howard because of their beloved dead in the churchyard, and no doubt are wont to wish and wonder if it may be their lot at last to return and slumber beside them.

As our letter is assuming too great a length, we will pass over village traditions, and briefly note the first day's proceedings of the Institute, first mentioning a free Christmas entertainment given the citizens by Col. Pile, mine host, of the Pile Hotel, and by Prof. Clair.—The former feasting our eyes with magnificent Biblical scenery, and the latter, our ears with choice Readings, consisting of the poems: "Bells," "Beautiful Snow," "Maud Muller," &c.

Centre County Teachers Institute.

FIRST DAY, DEC. 27, 1869.

During the day about fifty teachers arrived, a majority of whom were ladies, and the time was occupied by the Local Committee in providing them with accommodations. His Honor, Judge Allison, as chairman of said committee, was indefatigable in his duties toward the teachers—ladies and all—in his gallantry, heading the procession of fair ones, striking out with a game step, his cane on shoulder strung with divers valises, band boxes, bundles, carpet sacks, etc, all imposing as "a band of conquering heroes come."

In the evening at an early hour, the Disciple Church—in which the Institute is in session—was crowded to its fullest capacity. The evening exercises were opened by an eloquent, beautiful, and appropriate prayer by Rev. Mr. Bird, and after an unwarrantable length of time being consumed with calling of the Roll, in which the honorable Secretary, with strange persistency, prefixed 'Mrs.' to so many names, as to cause alarm in our corner among sundry gents, who, like Mr. Weller, in Pickwick, "have a great awersion to viddors."

Mr. R. M. Magee, Supt. of Centre Co. Pub. Schools, entertained the audience with an address of about five minutes duration, and with all due reverence for the important and honorable position which he fills, we are truly sorry to say we were a little disappointed. As a presiding officer of the Institute; as a Superintendent, expected in every way to show superior knowledge to the teachers whom he calls together to instruct, and above all, in as much as the programme laid down by himself, allotting to the day-sessions, the business and working exercises, and the evenings for interest and entertainment, as an opening or dedicating address, we expected a profound and logical one, instead of one abounding in tautology, simple routine of business, &c. Mr. M., in his few remarks upon the purpose for which they had assembled, the sacred place wherein, and the decorum expected on account of the place, expressed himself in a very choice and correct manner, but with a hesitancy which we hope may have been from a little temerity usual in a novice, rather than through the natural defect of being slow of thought and speech. If we have formed an opinion that the coming five days will prove erroneous, we shall with pleasure, render Mr. M. due justice.

Prof. Clair, the Elocutionist, exercised a class in Orthopy, and as far as he went, his system indicated a perfect knowledge. In his class we are pleased to note the reading of Mr. Davis, of Milesburg. Prof. Clair concluded the evening's entertainment with reading "Beautiful Snow," "Poe's Raven," "Sheridan's Ride," and "The Battle of Gettysburg." Of his Elocutionery powers, we confess our inability to criticise, but his style of gesticulation we consider most too dramatic for appreciation off theatrical boards. To quote the common comment, "he read with fearful agony."

Taking the Institute as a whole, we prophecy its success, and so far have to chronicle but one marring incident, in which a worthy member from near Millheim, having taken too much to keep himself dry while on the journey, he naturally considered himself the wisest present. Prof. Clair fully impressed upon our bic-coughing friend's understanding, that Balaam's Ass had left an heir, and in truth we almost fell to soliloquizing if it might not be possible there are two.

MOMUS.

For the Republican.

Home Influence.

Probably there is no place that influence should be so guarded, and carefully exerted, as in the home circle. It is there that the seed is sown from which the germ of good or evil takes root, and develops according to the surrounding influence. The future manhood and womanhood, of every age, depends upon this early and most important training or influence. Yet, how few parents even reflect, or consider, the magnitude of their duty, in this respect. They evidently show but little prudence in the rearing of children, or would they permit them privileges and associations too baneful for any one but the lowest mortals? If parents could but realize the necessity of early training, evil and misery would lessen in proportion to the effort made to avoid it, and christian virtue, peace and happiness would augment in the same ratio. Parents too frequently use language in the presence of their children that has an immoral and debasing tendency. They too often permit differences to be settled, and sometimes not in a very friendly way, in their presence. Children are close observers, and naturally imitative, and are most likely to fall into the habits of those around them; and do parents wish to see their children grow up snappish, fretful, quarrelsome and immoral in their natures and habits? If they do not, they should set them the proper example. "As ye sow so shall ye reap."

JENNIE P.

SULPHUR SPRING, Dec. 21, '69.

John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, when one day riding through the country, was saluted by a fellow who was lying in a ditch.

"Hello! Father Wesley, I'm glad to see you. How do you do?"

"I don't know you," said Mr. W., reigning up his horse. "Who are you."

"Don't you know me? Why, sir, you are the very man who converted me."

"I reckon I am," said Mr. W., putting spurs to his horse; "at least one thing is evident—the Lord had nothing to do with it."

Mrs. Lucy Stone said a good thing in the Woman's Convention at Chicago, to wit:

"Some mean cowards say if women vote they should fight. Now, she would ask, who perils her life when the soldier is born? The mother is his quartermaster until he is capable of finding his own rations."

That's true; and the quartermaster don't feed her soldiers on "hard tack," either.

"PATRICK," said a priest to an Irishman, "how much hay did you steal?" "Well," replied Pat, "I may as well confess to your reverence for the whole stack, for my wife and I are going to take the rest the first dark night."

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

W. W. BROWN, A. B. HUTCHISON, } Editors.

Terms $2 Per Annum in Advance.

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 12, 1870.

ADVERTISING.—The BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN has a larger circulation than any other Republican paper published in the county. Our merchants and business men will please make a note of this.

BARGAINS! BARGAINS!!

The Bellefonte "Republican" and the "American Agriculturist."

We are now prepared to offer to the people of Centre county, a Great Bargain for the coming year. It is this: To every subscriber who will send us $3.00, in advance, we will send the

and the

for one year. Of the REPUBLICAN we need not speak at present.

The American Agriculturist is a work that no farmer, nor house keeper should be without. As a farm-journal we think it has no superior in the world—certainly none in the United States. It is issued monthly, and the subscription price is $1.50 per annum. By clubing with the REPUBLICAN you save fifty cents, and secure more good reading matter than you can obtain in any other way for the same money.

We hope the reading public will avail themselves of this very liberal offer.

Money! Money!!

As we have been at a heavy expense in the purchase of our new Gordon press, we most respectfully, but earnestly, request all those who have not yet paid us their subscription to the REPUBLICAN to do so without delay.

It takes money to carry on a printing office, and to print a good paper. We have to pay cash for paper, ink, labor, and everything connected with our office. We realize the fact that a hint is all any of our patrons want, and they will shell out the needful with alacrity and delight.

Two dollars may seem to be a small sum of money. So it is; but two dollars multiplied by six or eight hundred, make rather a desirable little pile of greenbacks.

Our New Press.

On last Saturday we received at our office, one of the best Gordon Half-medium Job Presses. There is no better job press than the Gordon, manufactured, and we have the only one of the kind in Bellefonte. We feel proud of it because we know that we are now prepared to do better job work, and at lower prices than any "water-power," or any other establishment in the Congressional or Senatorial Districts. The fact is, and we think we are correct, that we have the only half-medium Gordon in Central Pennsylvania.

To our readers, and the business men of Centre county, we say if you want job work of any kind, plain or fancy, and at the most reasonable rates, the REPUBLICAN office is the place to have it done.

Horace Greeley.

It is certain as anything in this life can be, that Horace Greeley will lecture in Reynolds' Hall, January 25th. We look upon Mr. Greeley, as we have before stated, as the greatest man in the United States. To say he has faults, is but to admit his humanity. He is a man, but he is a great man.—Every Republican in Centre county should avail himself of this opportunity to see and hear the great philosopher.

Let such mullet-headed Democrats as Fred. Kurtz abuse Mr. Greeley, and remain away from the lecture, if they see proper; but we do hope that every Republican who can possibly do so will honor Horace Greeley with his presence on the 25th inst., and by so doing honor himself and the good old county of Centre.

Who can say so much to give Centre county a world-wide fame, as Horace Greeley through the columns of the Tribune? Let every lover of our county see to it.

FAMILY QUARREL.—The Ring had a nice little squabble over the county funds last week. Mr. Wolf the newly elected Treasurer came into power on the 4th inst. Our friend Shugert made a set-to for the deposits and our very amiable friend Maj. Reynolds thought he was the better Democrat of the two, and therefore entitled to the funds. The fight commenced early in the morning—it was continued till noon—renewed after dinner, waxed very hot and bitter towards evening, and our newly elected Treasurer found before night to his surprise that his checks were not good—protests stared him in the face no matter which way he turned, until it is said, that he really sighed

"For a lodge in some vast wilderness
Where rumor of oppression and deceit," and where contact with conflicting factions, fighting for the spoils, might never reach him more. Poor Wolf! We really pitied him.

The contest ended by Maj. Reynolds securing the deposits for and during the reign of Mr. Wolf. How Dunlop feels over his defeat we cannot state; but we will endeavor to give all, the interesting particulars next week.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.—Gov. Geary's Message is a very able document and should be read by every citizen of the State; but it is too long for our columns.

The Court House Ring.

The Watchman and Reporter can make light of our charges against the Court House Ring if they choose; but the people nevertheless know that it does exist and every time the collector comes round for county taxes, they feel its damaging effects and the results to them individually of its mal-administration.

The Ring gained another triumph on the 4th inst., in the selection of Wm. Furey, as Commissioners clerk Against Mr. Furey we have not one word to say. We have no charges to make; but he belongs to the Ring and has feathered his nest nicely. Capt. Smith was not able to fight the ring. He had to succumb. Thus will it ever be unless the honest Democrats of Centre arouse themselves and strike for their rights.

We told Capt. Smith three months ago, that he might as well save time and money, and not apply, for the thing was all fixed before John Moran was nominated for Prothonotary. For the same reason John Sweeney was thrown overboard and Joseph McCloskey nominated for Commissioner.

We have no doubt Mr. Furey will make a good clerk; yet we cannot see why one man, or one set of men should be kept in office all the time.

No Democrat in the county can secure an office unless he belongs to the Ring, and we think said Ring closed the books long ago, and refuse now to admit new members. They have a nice thing of it and they intend to continue it, for their own personal benefit.

If the honest Democrats of Centre wish to obtain office, their first great duty is to crush the ring. To do this and to do it effectually they should be willing to work with us, shoulder to shoulder and heart to heart, until the herculean task is accomplished. Honest Democrats will you do it? Or will you continue to play cats paw for the Ring, thus making yourselves equally guilty with them? Time will tell.

Literary Thief.

Gov. Hoffman, of New York, in his first message to the Legislature of that State, has been guilty of plagiarism, or in other words, has made a literary thief of himself. That portion of his message relating to specie payments, is stolen, verbatim et literatim, from Senator Morten's great specie payment speech, delivered in the U. S. Senate in December, 1868. Nobody of sense expected Gov. Hoffman, to have brains enough to write his own message. The people concluded 12 years ago, that the Democracy had neither honesty nor brains sufficient to run either State or National Government.

It is said that Senator Morton is a good deal amused at seeing his financial doctrines adopted in so high a Democratic quarter.

A man who cannot write a message without stealing it from Republicans, is surely not fit for the Presidency.—Pendleton, with all his dirty tricks and repudiation doctrines, has never, we believe, made himself a literary, or any other kind of thief. Alas! poor Hoffman.

THE STATE LECISLATURE.

The Legislature organized on Tuesday, the 4th inst. In the Senate the Republicans nominated and elected the following officers:

Speaker, Chas H. Stinson, of Montgomery; chief clerk, Geo. W. Hamersly, Germantown; assistant clerks, Lucious Rogers, of McKean, and Ebeneezer Williams, Pittsburgh; transcribing clerks, Wm. G. Bosler, Edward Cowan, of Warren, Isaac Bodine, of Tioga, and Theophilus Hiestand, of Lancaster.

The House Republican caucus nominated, without material opposition, the following officers, on the report of the Committee appointed at the informal caucus on Saturday:

Speaker, B. B. Strang, of Tioga; clerk, J. L. Selfridge, of Northampton; assistant clerks, Edward G. Lee, of Philadelphia, and John Smull, of Harrisburg; transcribing clerks, Geo. A. Baker, Isaac Moorehead, Jas. L. Allen, John M. Kilbourne, J. F. Humes, John L. Morrison; Sergeant at-arms, Thomas Wilson, Philadelphia; assistants, J. S. Halsey, John McFadden, Warren McCreary, H. M Straubbough. Doorkeeper, J. H. Hall; assistants, John Root, James Scott, Stephen J. Hart. Messenger, W. W. Gibson; assistants, Anthony McMunn, W. W. Wright, Geo. C. Anderson. Postmaster, August Beckert, of Allegheny; assistant, Wm. Shields. Superintendent of Folding Department, Jas. Rems, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Strang was elected Speaker of the House without opposition, and Mr. Stinson, Speaker of the Senate.

The Democrats nominated candidates for Speaker, both of the House and Senate; but it was only for the sake of keeping up appearances.

Senators Buckalew and Randall, both Democrats, had a nice little spat of words, in which Mr. Randall came off second best.

This shows us that that the great harmonious have trouble in their own ranks, and expect to experience some very rough and stormy sailing before the session closes.

Several very important bills, looking to retrenchment and reform, were offered by Hon. M. B. Lowry and other Republican Senators.

The caucus held by the Republican members, nominated R. W. Mackey, the present State Treasurer, for re-election. He received 49 votes in caucus; Mr. Irwin 8 votes. Mr. Irwin having declined before the meeting of the caucus. Eight of his friends were determined, however, to vote for him, and 19 or 20 others refused to go into caucus. Mr. Irwin has many warm friends in the Legislature, and throughout the State. At this writing, there is some talk of the anti-Mackey Republicans and the Democratic members uniting upon Mr. Irwin to defeat Mr. Mackey, or the regular caucus nomination.

We sincerely hope Mr. Irwin will lend himself to no such uses, as we believe in sustaining regular nominations. Again, we can see no necessity for such action, as Mr. Mackey and his friends were compelled to pledge themselves to "retrenchment and reform" before they could succeed.

From all we can gather from our Harrisburg exchanges, the Legislature means work this winter, and there are honest members who will hold in check the dishonest Democrats, and any Republican members who may so far forget themselves as to desire, in any way, to affiliate with them.

Hon. M. B. Lowry is emphatically the leader of the Senate, and is determined to work a reform on old Democratic customs, and pass laws to take care of the interests of the Commonwealth and the taxpayers thereof.

We think a law will be passed, increasing the salary of the State Treasurer from $1,700 to $5,000 per annum, and compelling the surplus monies of the State to be used for the benefit of the State, instead of the Treasury Ring.

Mr. Mackey, in his recent report, says that, in his opinion, "the State should derive some benefit from the unexpended balance."

Senator Lowry, and other reformers, think that the State should derive all the benefit from the unexpended balance. So Gov. Geary thinks, and so do all the honest people, both Republican and Democrat, throughout the Commonwealth.

The following resolutions have been offered in the Senate:

Mr. OLMSTED offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That the Speaker and members of the Senate and House (if the House concur) will meet at 12 o'clock M. on Thursday, the 13th inst in convention, in the hall of the House of Representatives, for the opening and publishing the votes for Governor in pursuance of the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. LOWRY offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary General be and they are hereby requested to inquire into the expediency of bringing in a bill giving to married women the same rights in regard to property that their husbands enjoy.

The resolution was adopted.

He also offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary General are hereby requested to inquire into the expediency of bringing in a bill to abolish the death penalty in Pennsylvania.

The resolution was adopted.

He also offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved by the Senate, That so much of the Governor's message as refers to the State Treasurer be referred to the Committee on Finance, and that the said committee is hereby instructed to inquire as to the manner and time at which moneys are paid into the State Treasury; where, and upon what conditions said moneys are kept; whether any illegal use has been made of said moneys, or of the bonds held by the Commonwealth, and that the said committee be empowered to send for persons and papers, and to place the State Treasurer and other State officers on oath.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. RUTAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That part of the Governor's message relating to the reception of appropriations from the State by agents of charitable institutions without giving security be referred to the Committee on Finance.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr HENSZEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That the Board of Public Charities be requested to consider the expediency of establishing an asylum for inebriates and report to the next Legislature.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. HOWARD offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved. That the committee to be appointed to examine into the conduct of the State Treasurer and the use of the public bonds and moneys shall inquire in the same manner as authorized by that resolution into the practice of the State Treasurer for the last three years past, in respect to the use of the bonds and State funds.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. RUTAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

WHEREAS, It is alleged that the Pennsylvania railroad company has heretofore corruptly procured legislation for its benefit, and has corruptly interfered in and influenced the selection of officers to be chosen by either branch of the Legislature;

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker of the Senate to inquire into these alleged abuses, with power to send for persons and papers.

The resolution was adopted.

It will be seen from the above, that reform is necessary, and that all the talk about corruption in Harrisburg has not been in vain. Reform must come, and we sincerely hope the Republican members will set themselves to work in good earnest to accomplish this much-desired end. They should remember that they are in the majority, and the responsibility rests with them.

—On Wednesday night the store of Harding & Brother, dry goods dealers at Rockville, Parke county, Indiana, was entered, the safe broken open and robbed of eighteen thousand dollars in currency. Some disagreement existed between the firm and the officers of the bank at Rockville, and they had withheld their deposits, which accounts for the large amount of money on hand. The burglars left their tools and a dark lantern, with some other professional appurtenances.

Our Grain in England.

The price of wheat in London, says the Toledo Blade, one day last week, fell from $12.60 per quarter (of 560 pounds) to $10.92 in gold. American flour was then selling at from $5.28 to $5.94 per barrel in gold. American shippers keep sending grain to Europe though it is not wanted, and every bushel now shipped there reduces the quotations to still lower figures.

We allude to this subject to impress upon farmers the need of building up at home a reliable and steady market for our products by encouraging and building up home manufactures The foreign market upon which we have too much depended, is unreliable and capricious. The home market will be permanent and safe. What would the wheat, pork, or beef of a western farmer be worth if the manufacturing towns of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New England were transferred to England? Then the men who now consume the products of these western farms would be supplied by the serf labor of Europe with their bread, and we should have to toil as hard, and fare as meanly as those who till the soil of the eastern continent. Yet this is the consummation which Free Traders rely on to usher in the political millenium!

So long as farmers look to Europe for their market, so long will they be mocked by the accidents of time and fortune. England will buy, as she always has done, where she can get her bread at the lowest price and at least cost of transportation. All the wares and fabrics of her manufacture which she can get us to pay for in gold, are clear gain for her coffers. She buys our agricultural products only when crops fail in Europe and she is compelled to come to us. The American policy, that recommended by Washington, Hamilton, Jackson and Clay, is to get nothing abroad which we can make at home. When we shall open our mines, set in operation our mills, make our own iron and copper wares, our own cloth, and utilize our own resources, we shall always have a safe and reliable market for all the products of our farms. To the operation of our present tariff we are indebted to exemption from a repetition of the financial disasters and derangements of 1837 and 1857. The high duties charged, while they have been low enough to secure sufficient revenue, and high enough to furnish protection for home manufactures, have been of far greater benefit in the restraint they have had on excessive importations from abroad. We have been compelled to buy sparingly. This has prevented the heavy and exhausting drain upon our cash that would have been made under a less stringent system.—As it is we are sending away too much of our means. We are tending to ruin every day we allow the balance of trade to go against us.

We appeal to the farmers of the West not to allow themselves to be deceived by free trade sophistries. Build up manufactures at the West as well as at the East. Every workman must have bread. And the nearer we bring the mine, the farm, the factory and the store together the more stable and secure will be the sources of our financial prosperity.

Repudiation.

When Cox, Brooks, and other Democratic members of the House assailed Mungen for his advocacy of Repudiation, the better class of Democrats pointed to their speeches as proof that the Democratic party was not justly chargeable with leaning toward that heresy. But they reckoned without their host. The Democratic merchants, represented by Cox, Brooks, et al are doubtless opposed to Repudiation, appreciating, as they do, the necessity of maintaining the National credit, but the Democracy represented by Mungen hold different views:

The Napoleon Northwest, the ablest Democratic County paper in Ohio, endorses Mungen fully, and insists that because of his utterances on this question, he shall be recognized as the leader of the Democracy of the country. The Northwest says:

"Honor to Col. Mungen! We have long waited for leaders who comprehend the emergency and are equal to it. One we have found! Let others come to the front. No matter if they be new men, so they be true men.—The millions who toil; the millions who pay; the millions who are daily and hourly robbed by the exactions of the stupendous fraud named the War Debt, call for the leaders to marshal the mighty force and direct the tremendous energies which are eager for the assault. No great cause fails to last for want of leaders. The hour strikes, and the men appear. Democrats who are too cowardly to make avail of the opportunity, or too stupid to recognize it, or so unutterably base as to sell themselves to the adversary for a price, can well be dispensed with. Let them consort with Kerr (cur?) of Indiana, and babbling Brooks, of New York, and the other sneaks and Judases, who, in the name of Democracy, have just knelt down on the floor of Congress to lick the dust from the bondholder' shoes. Good riddance of bad rubbish. We shall have room for better men.

Let the people of Ohio, and all that is brave and Democratic in the press of Ohio, proclaim William Mungen a leader of the Democracy, and follow him in a grand, combined, resolute army, sworn not to disband until victotory, and with victory, EMANCIPATION from the tyranny of the Money Power shall be achieved."

The Northwest's impassioned appeal will be responded to by the entire Democratic press of the Northwest.—"Fiddler Bill" knew very well what he was about when he made his speech. He drew upon his head the anathemas of the New York politicians, but he cares little for that. His constituents endorse him. The Democracy of the East and West are two distinct bodies, and on the question of the payment of the National Debt are as widely separated as the poles. There is a pretty quarrel brewing.—Toledo Blade.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Few questions can be of more importance to the American people than the one now agitated in the caption to this communication. The right and duty of any Government to educate the children of her citizens, is based upon the right and the duty of self-preservation. As free institutions can only exist where the people are intelligent and virtuous, it is evident that a Government like ours, freer in the highest and most radical sense, than any other Government on the earth, owes it to herself and all that is valuable to humanity, in her liberty and civilization; to provide for the liberal education of all.

This great truth has been apprehended by our statesmen, and the largest provisions have been made in nearly all the States for free public education. As yet, however, the great question, "What shall the education which we provide at public expense be?" is in a measure unsettled. Shall it be simply intellectual? This were to ignore the fact that a mere intellectual education affects the development of only a part of our nature. It secures neither a sound body, nor a pure heart. It may make men keen traders, cunning politica tricksters or ambitious demigogues greedy of power and wealth; but it does nothing to call out the nobler nature; to make men patriots or philanthropists; to develope the moral and religious nature, without which man is but a polished savage.

We need virtue, as well as intelligence. The people who neglect the moral and religious training of their youth, neglect the very foundation of their greatness, the archimedian lever of their true and abiding elevation. Without morality the Government must sink into corruption; and without religion there can be no authoritative morality. Laws will be unjust, their administration will be mercenary, and the reverence of them, without which they can avail nothing, will perish from the hearts of the people.

The highest sanction to law is found in religion. The man who does not feel himself responsible to the all-searching eye, will feel but little concern for the purity of the law, or the equal principles of Justice.

But how shall we implant the principles of morality and religion in the hearts of the nation save by instructing in the Word of God? The effort to expel the Bible from our Common Schools, is an effort to dethrone GOD from the conscience, and to obliterate the hand-writing of the law on the heart. The enemies of our national purity know this right well. Banish the knowledge of the Bible from the heart of the people, and you kill Christianity and convert our Christian civilization into a new form of heathenism.

The Pantheism of Auguste Compte will take the place of our Christian Temples, and philosophy, whose book of revelation is the human conscience, or science; whose data are experience and observation, will be substituted for the word of God and the testimony of the spirit.

Nothing is plainer than this. Commit the deliberate insult to the authority of the word of God, expelling it, as a thing of evil, from the hall of our public education, and to that extent, precisely, you deliberately take a step toward heathenism. Spurn the Bible publicly before the eyes of all the children of the land—say deliberately and openly by a public vote of political authority—to every child in the land: "The Bible is not fit to be used in your moral and religious instruction; you shall not read it in the school-house;" we solemnly, and in the face of this enlightened 19th century, condemn it as dangerous and delusive, and what will the next generation be but a nation of scoffers. O, but the church will take care of this matter," you say. Yes, thank God, and the noble men whom He yet preserves as the salt of this fair earth—this Godly heritage of ours—the CHURCH, will see to this as best she can. NOW-AND THEN.

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 12, 1870.

Horace Greeley in Bellefonte.

The renowned Philosopher of the New York Tribune, HORACE GREELEY, having consented to deliver a lecture in Bellefonte, (the subject of which will be announced in due time) the undersigned have the gratification to announce to the citizens of this county that Mr. GREELEY has appointed as the occasion on which he will make his appearance before a Centre county audience. The fame of HORACE GREELEY is co extensive with the English language, and, though one of the most erratic, he is certainly one of the most remarkable men of the age. As editor of the New York Tribune he is known throughout the length and breadth of the land and from a journalistic point of view, he stands second to no living man. Everybody has heard of him everybody wants to see him, and curiosity to know what he looks like will do much towards securing him a large audience.—Coming here under editorial auspices, (both Republican and Democratic) he will not appear as a partizan, and Democrats and Republicans are alike invited to come and hear him.

The tickets for Mr Greeley's lecture are now printed, and will be sold at the bookstores and by agents throughout the county. Perfect arrangements will be made for securing reserved seats, and ushers will be in attendance to conduct those holding reserved tickets to their places.

Tickets to all parts the house 50 cents. Reserved seats 75 cents. Let everybody come

W. H. H. BRAINERD.
JOE. W. FUREY.

JOB WORK.—Posters, Circulars, Bill Heads, Cards, Paper Books, Job Work of all Kinds, neatly executed at the REPUBLICAN OFFICE, at reasonable rates.

SAVE MONEY.—If you want posters, circulars, bill heads, cards, paper-books, first-class job work, plain or fancy, call at the REPUBLICAN office. All work done at Philadelphia prices.

ALMOST A FIGHT.—Quite an excitement prevailed on Bishop street, on Friday last, for the space of twenty minutes, caused by a couple of pugilistic individuals, who really succeeded in making the people believe they wanted to fight. They didn't though. You could not make either of them fight. They were only blowing. Such conduct is disreputable. The police thought so at least.

THE Philip-burg Journal says, "The coal operators of this region have declared a reduction of mining wages, caused, it is alleged by the decline of the price paid by the Pennsylvania R. R for coal. It is expected that a general strike of miners will ensue."

If so we may look for some very interesting locals from Philipsburg and vicinity.

MUSIC.—The Philipsburg brass band, on New Year's Eve., serenaded many of the citizens of that place. The Journal office it appears, was not forgotten, but received its fair share of the melodious treat. We have a most excellent band in Bellefonte; but we never hear them play. When Greeley comes on the 25th inst., we suppose they will blow their horns. Let 'em blow.

HYDRANT.—We have frequently spoken of the hydrant invented by our fellow townsman; but we never realized the beauty and usefulness of the invention, until we saw one a few days ago, in perfect working order. It was patented December 28th, 1869, and does, without exaggeration, surpass anything of the kind in the United States. The day for old hydrants has passed. Pruner's patent will work a revolution, wherever hydrants are needed.

THANKS.—Capt. Martin Bolan, Proprietor of the Curtin House, in Central City, has placed us under renewed obligations, for the nice lot of celery presented us last week. The Capt., is a clever man, and he and his excellent lady have made the Curtin House famous for its superior accommodations, its culinary department, its beds and bedding, its well ventilated rooms. Better accommodations are hard to find, in houses that make greater pretentions and much larger bills. We wish the Capt. and his amiable lady the success they deserve.

NOTICE.—Dr. W. H. Witmor, of Philadelphia, will be at the Brockerhoff House, Bellefonte, Pa., on the 22d day of January, to remain for one week. Dr. Witmor, as we have already said is no stranger in Centre county, having respectable connections at Centre Hall, as well as in other portions of the county, and we can assure our readers that he has in his possession, credentials from the best and most learned medical men both in the City and State. We believe the Dr. will do just what he promises. v2n2-2t

ALMOST A MURDER.—On Monday last, a man, said to be a citizen of Lock Haven, but whose name we have not learned becoming too heavily charged with benzine, attempted to murder a woman whom he had been passing off here as his wife. It appears they met near F. P. Green's Drug Store, and he charging her with having "gone back on him," drew a large knife, at the same time, seizing her by the throat, prepared to plunge the knife into his helpless and almost frantic victim.

Just at this point Mr. Felty, a member of our very efficient police made his appearance and the aforesaid citizen of Lock Haven, upon refusing to be arrested was knocked down by Mr. Felty and thus the womans life saved. She may be a bad woman; but the idea of a humanized brute attempting to take her life in broad day light, in the streets of Bellefonte is terribly awful. None of our own citizens would ever think of the like.

WE solicit local items from our Reporters.

EXPRESS.—B. V. Black, proprietor of the Bellefonte Meat Market has just received a private Express wagon for the accommodation of the people of this city. It is an institution long needed here, and we hope Mr. Black, will be amply rewarded for his enterprise.

DRY GOODS.—In returning our thanks, last week to J & G Alexander for the two nice turkeys they sent us for New Year's day, we omitted to state, that they lived in the enterprising town of Unionville, this county, where they carry on a splendid trade in the mercantile business.

BOOKS.—The place to get cheap books, stationery, paper collars, inks, pencils and every article usually kept in a first class book store is in the Post Office building, J. D. Miller, proprietor. Mr. Miller is a gentleman in every particular and takes great pleasure in waiting upon his customers.

MR. MICHAEL HAGENBUCH and his wife of Orangeville, Columbia county, died during the last week from grief occasioned by the arrest and imprisonment of their son for theft. What a lesson this should be. Two aged parents literally brought "in sorrow to the grave" by the bad conduct of their son.—Snyder Co., Post.

REMOVALS.—Samuel H. Williams has moved his furniture store from the room formerly occupied by him, to the corner room in the Bush House, formerly occupied by Jno W. Bailey.

Mr. Baily has removed his plumber and Gas fitting establishment to a room in Bush's new building just opposite the furniture ware rooms of S. H. Williams.

RESTAURANT.—H. D. Ruble, as we have before stated, has rented the restaurant in the Bush & McClain Block, is doing a very nice quiet business. The best Oysters are kept by him, and indeed the very best of everything in his line. H. D. Ruble is a clever man, understands his business well, and as a saloon or restaurant caterer has no superiors.

Dr. E. K. Thompson, Mr. J. J. Marsh, Mrs. N. Potter, Mr. A. T. Bullintine, and many other citizens of this city, acknowledge their relief from Chronic Catarrh, due to Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Perhaps no other remedy ever offered to the public has acquired such popularity in so short a time as Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. When once tried it recommends itself. It is now on sale in nearly every store in the land.—Titusville Morning Herald. ja 5-2t.

JANUARY —

"How beautiful the frosty morn;
When brilliant gem each feathery thorn;
How fair thy cloudless Noon!
And through the leafless trees at night,
With more than summer's softened light,
Shines thy resplendent Moon."

The commencement of the year with January is not in accordance with the earliest calendars, such as the Jewish, the Egyptian, and the Greek. The Jewish year opened March 25, and this date continued for a long time to have a legal position, as the beginning of the year, in Christian countries. In England, while the popular year began with January, it was not until 1752 that it became also the legal initial month. This change was effected in Scotland in 1600; in France, in 1544; in Holland and Germany, in 1700. The popular beginning of the year was in accordance with the Roman calendar. This was formed by Numa Pompilius (n. c. 672), who added two new months to the ten into which the year had previously been divided, decreeing that the year should commence with January—named in honor of Janus, the deity presiding over doors, who was naturally presumed to have something to do with the opening of the year. This deity was represented by the Romans as a man with two faces, one looking backward, the other forward, implying that he stood between the old year and the new, with a regard to each. Among our Saxon ancestors, January was called originally wolf monat, or wolf-month, because, it is supposed, of the danger experienced from those ravenous creatures during the extreme cold of the period. Subsequently it was named After-Yule, or After-Christmas.—Telegraph.

JUSTICE.—It always affords us pleasure to read in our exchanges, encomiums upon our town, or any of its institutions. We believe that Bellefonte morally, religiously, and financially, has few superiors, in the State. Our free schools are certainly an honor to the place; but of these we will let the correspondent of the Clinton Democrat speak:

December 26, 1869.

Since writing the above I had the pleasure of being present at the examination of the pupils of the Public Schools at Bellefonte, Centre county, on last Thursday, the 23d inst., and can safely say, that the teachers and pupils acquitted themselves in an unusually creditable manner.

The examinations in Arithmetic, Geography, Algebra, United States and Ancient Histories were more instructive and interesting than any it has ever been my privilege to attend. In all these branches there were perhaps but two or three questions not correctly answered. The schools in any locality must be a success when they are under the control of a live and competent Principal, and an efficient corps of faithful and devoted teachers. The discipline and instruction in all these schools are, perhaps, as thorough as can be found in any schools of the same grade in Central Pennsylvania.

There are nine schools, including one colored school, in the borough, and the building is one of the most handsome and convenient in this part of the State, sufficiently ample to accommodate all the pupils of fit age who attend the schools.

The music on the organ by Miss Burnside and the singing by the pupils of Messrs D. H. Hastings' and M. W. Herr's school were charming and admirably executed. Quite a number of prominent ladies and gentlemen of the town were present at the examination, and seemed highly pleased with the exercises.

It is to be hoped that the same plan of holding public examinations will be adopted in the public schools of Lock Haven, as it is no doubt productive of many good beneficial results. A. H. S.

BROAD RAILS, &c.—The enterprising firm of J. W. Thompson & Bro., Potters Mills, advertise a large lot of Broad Rails for sale. They also inform the people of Penns Valley that they have a large and splendid stock of Dry Goods, Groceries, &c., which they will dispose of, at prices, as low as they can be purchased for in Bellefonte or Lewistown.

The Messrs Thompson are clever, enterprising business men, and are worthy the confidence and patronage of the people.

REAL ESTATE AGENT.—We learn from a card sent us that our friend and fellow townsmen Daniel Welch, (late examiner in the Pension Office) has opened a "Real Estate, Broker and Claim Agency," in Washington, D. C. Office, No. 513, Seventh Street, in rear of Freedmen's Bank.

Mr. Welch is a man of great industry and business tact and we do most cheerfully recommend him to all persons having "Pensions, Back Pay or Bounty Claims" to collect. Also to persons wishing to buy lands in West Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee or Arkansas.

IGNORANCE.—The poet has very truly sung:

"Where ignorance is bliss
'Tis folly to be wise."

So Fred. Kurtz, thinks and keeps saying all manner of hard and foolish things about Horace Greeley, who is to lecture in this place on the 25th inst. Poor Kurtz! In every line he writes, he shows how little knowledge he possesses of men and things, and every time he writes the great philosophers name, he betrays his ignorance by spelling it —Horace Greely. That spelling will not do Fred. It wants another e just as you want more brains, and your articles generally, more honesty and truth, especially those in reference to Horace Greeley.

Kurtz has a free ticket, and will come to hear Horace, we'll bet. But you must be here by 2 o'clock Fred., if you want a seat, because everybody is coming and Reynolds' splendid new Hall will be filled to overflowing.

INSTITUTE.—We copy the following from the Lock Haven daily Independent. It shows what strangers thought of the Institute. We ask the teachers of Centre county, is the criticism of the Independent just? We do not believe a word of it. We hope we will not be compelled to.

CENTRE COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—The Bellefonte papers are giving considerable space to the Teachers' Institute, held at Howard last week. We were there, and didn't think much of the affair.

In every direction, save one, to which the Institute directed its attention, it was magnificently unsuccessful. The exception was the admission fee, and it was suggested by many that the fee was altogether inadequate to the performance. Five dollars would have been about the figures, providing the visitor had never before witnessed a Teachers' Institute. In case he had, we will not attempt to set a price. It was a great mistake, and one which, rectified, would have permitted the publication of the saving portion of the proceedings in several county papers. A few of the set lectures were able and apropos. The remainder were wretched common places, and worse platitudes. We mention among the former, those of Messrs. Chase and Ermentrout. The essays were here and there spiced with rare originality, but the great majority required a strong spasm of sympathy on the part of listeners. As a class, the drills were abominable failures, the occasion of them being, with scarce an exception, prostituted to the purposes of ridiculous exhibitions of personal "smartness." The petty debates and passes between pupils and drill conductors, were neither dignified, nor would they be permissable in a respectable barbacue. At rare times the order, as was the interest, was most commendable. It was a difficult matter for any considerable number to give undivided attention to drills, and those who did not being vastly more numerous, the attentive ones could scarcely be called a respectable minority. The teachers were numbered for the purpose of indiscriminate questioning by drill teachers. After one or two drills the numbers of the "posted" ones alone were called, and the remainder allowed to repose in

"Fancied sapiency, deep as nothing."

The order was execrable, especially during the evening sessions, when a large audience packed every foot of available room. Lecturers, essayists and drill teachers were unable to bear up against the swaying, noisy mass, and were frequently compelled to pause until some special appeal from the President stilled them for a brief moment. The Committee on Order (!) were never on hand, except during prayers, when commonest decency would compel order.

The facilities for comfortably housing the teachers are not within the limits of Howard, or her adjacent boundaries. Her citizens did their utmost without murmur or hesitation. Families with bare facilities for receiving four teachers, unhesitatingly opened wide their doors for the admission of ten. Their liberality exceeded their means by half.

The Committee on "Reception of Teachers," at the head of which stood Judge Allison, were as delightfully ignorant of the arrival of teachers as the seventh original Cardiff Giant of the veriest problem in Euclid.

In a word, no one was profitted, but the Hotel landlords, and no one pleased but the Superintendent, and Brainard of the National.

WEDNESDAY MORNING Jan. 12, '70

Letter From Missouri.

VICTORIA, JEFFERSON Co. Mo., Dec. 22, 1869.

CAPT. A. B. HUTCHISON, BELFEFONTE, PA.—My Dear Friend:—In response to your inquiries relative to this county. I will try to state a few facts as clearly and as briefly as possible.

Jefferson County, Missouri, is one of the center counties on the Eastern border of the State, and is bounded on the north by St. Louis County, and on the East by the Mississippi river.

Its general surface is high and rolling; though the hills are not so high and precipitous as in parts of your State.

Except when improved, the entire county is covered with timber, of which red, white and black oak, black and white walnut, white and shellbark hickory and sugar maple predominate but the number is generally young and small, and is easily removed—Indeed, it is easier and cheaper to open a farm here than it is upon the timberless and waterless prairies.

The country is well watered by living springs and small streams, and is void of malarious swamps and sluggish, standing waters.

The soil is of a limestone nature, with a rich clay sub-soil. The climate is comparatively mild and very healthful. The winters are short, not usually begining before December, and closing as early as March, when the farmers commence ploughing. Besides all through the winter there are many days as warm and pleasant as your Indian Summer.

Of productions, this county is chiefly noted for its fruits. The finest varieties of apples, peaches, pears, cherries, berries and grapes grow here to perfection, and seldom fail. Many are making fruit growing—especially—grapes and peaches an exclusive business, and are doing well.

Under good cultivation fine crops of wheat, corn, rye, oats and barley, and vegetables, especially sweet potatoes, are also produced here.

But next to fruit these uplands seem to be best adapted to the production of the grasses, clover, timothy Hungarian and blue grass. Two good crops of clover may be taken from the same ground each season, while even the woods when cleared of underbrush and properly enclosed and protected, will, after the lapse of a year, be covered by a luxurious and spontaneous growth of blue grass. Besides, the adaptability of the region to grass-growing is evidenced by the fact that nearly all of the horses, cattle, sheep and hogs owned here depend for their subsistence upon the wild pasturage of the woods.

In view of these facts, together with the no less favorable facts that good lands or farms, with some improvements, can now be purchased here at from $10 to $30 per acre; that good and unfailing markets are close at hand, and that our railroad facilities are abundant. Who can doubt that the dairying business, or the raising of cattle, hogs or sheep for the market may be made a very lucrative employment about here.

The city of St. Louis now containing a population of 250,000 souls, and constantly increasing in population, wealth and importance, and destined to be, if it is not already, the chief commercial city and center of the great West, is only 39 miles distant from this town (Victoria) and is reached by the St. Louis & Iron Mountain R. R., which traverses the entire county north and south.

A large part of the butter and cheese used in St. Louis is imported from the East, much of it from N. Y., city.

Now if dairymen in the east, on land costing from $60 to $100 per acre, and with feeding out winters of five or six months duration, can make it pay to manufacture butter and cheese for the St. Louis market, including the largely increased cost of handling and transportation, does it not appear reasonable that here, with all the advantages of soil, climate, cheapness of land, markets, &c., before named, that here the same business could be much more profitably conducted.

Certainly, the few who have engaged in the business here, have done well, but as yet, dairying in this county is strangely overlooked, and neglected as is also good thorough general farming or stock growing. What this county needs more than anything else is skillful industry. Apply that to the development of our natural resources, and to the improvement of our numerous advantages, and it is sure of a rich reward.

Our people here are peaceful, law-abiding and hospitable. Our towns are small but prosperous and growing, and our schools are numerous and constantly improving.

But I need not further prolong this letter. Should you desire to know anything further relative to this region, please write me, directing your letter as per caption and I will cheerfully communicate any additional information that I may possess or can obtain, and ditto as to your friends and neighbors. Your friend,

A. M. TYLER.

We do not like to see a farmer spending money for artificial fertilizers and neglecting to save and apply the manure of his premises—the stable, the pig pen, &c. Such a policy shows that there is something wrong about the farmer who follows it,

Kentucky mourns over a frozen tobacco crop.

An Awful Old Musket.

Mark Twain tells the following story related by a fellow passenger, who, being bantered about his timidity said he had never been scared since he loaded an old Queen Anne's musket for his father once, whereupon he gave the following:

You see, the old man was trying to learn me to shoot blackbirds, and beasts that tore up the young corn and such things, so that I could be of some use about the farm, because I wasn't big enough to do much. My gun was a single barrelled shot gun, and the old man carried an old Queen Anne musket that weighed a ton, made a raport like a thunder clap, and kicked like a mule. The old man wanted me to shoot the musket sometimes, but I was afraid. One day, though, I got her down, and so I took her to the hired man and asked him how to load her, because it was out in the field.

"Hiram," said he, "do you see these marks on the stock, an X and a V on each side of the Queen's crown? Well, that means ten balls and five slugs—that is her load"

"But how much powder?"

"Oh," he says, "it don't matter; put in three or four handfuls."

So I loaded her up that way, and it was an awful charge—I had sense enough to see that—and started out. I levelled on a good many blackbirds but every time I went to pull the trigger I shut my eyes and winked. I was afraid of her kick. Towards sundown I fetched up at the house, and there was the old man resting on the porch.

"Been out hunting, have ye?"

"Yes sir," says I.

"What did you kill?"

"Didn't kill anything sir—didn't shoot her off—was afraid she would kick (I knew blamed well she would).

"Gimme that gun!" the old man said, as mad as sin.

And he took aim at a sapling on the other side of the road, and I began to drop back out of danger. And the next moment I heard the earthquake, and heard the Queen Anne whirling end over end in the air, and the old man spinning around on one heel, with one leg up and both hands on his jaw, and the bark was torn off from that sapling like there was a hail storm. The old man's shoulder was set back three inches and his jaw turned black and blue, and he had to lay up for three days. Cholera nor nothing else can scare me the way I was scared that time.

A Leap For Death.

Miraculous Escape of a Would-Be Suicide at the Massachusetts State Prison.

[From the Boston Journal, Dec. 28.]

A poor fellow named Thomas Coyne sentenced to the State Prison for life, to whose heart hope has been for six years a stranger, attempted to end his earthly existence on Tuesday morning, by making a desperate plunge, head foremost, from the fourth corridor in the south wing to solid granite pavement, nearly forty feet below. Miraculous as it seems he was in no way injured, and literally escaped without a bruise. A small wooden stool happened to stand on the spot where he fell, and his body, turning in the descent, was precipitated upon it, crushing it to splinters. The stool saved his life for if he had fallen upon the stone floor every bone in his body must have been shattered. He was taken up in an unconscious condition and carried to the hospital, where he soon revived, and in a short time commenced to walk about, only complaining of a slight lameness in his legs. The prisoners were marching out in division at the time—about seven in the morning. Coyne attempted to excuse himself by saying that he slipped off the edge of the corridor, but this is an absolute impossibility as there are horizontal iron guards every two feet on the outee edge of the corridor from the floor to ceiling. He has been very down-spirited for some days and took this desperate method to rid him self of his despair. He is an Irishman by birth, and has always borne a good character in the prison. He was a sailor, and the crime for which he received a life sentence was the murder of a man with whom he had some trouble, and whom he followed here from New York for this purpose. He is thirty four years of age and has just completed the sixth year of his term. Having not a friend in the world and with a future almost a blank, it is no wonder that he cared nothing for life.

SWINE-DRIVING is as easy as whistling after you know how, to wit: "To the end of a stout cord tie an ear of corn, drop it in front of the pig, to within five or six inches of his noso, and commence walking away in the direction you wish him to propel. If his pigship shows evidence of blighted hopes or aberration of mind, from the singular conduct of the corn, seduce him into the belief that it is all right by letting him have a brief nibble at it and then resume your line of march. In this way the most obdurate pig may be decoyed any reasonable distance."

—An Ohio clergyman, several years ago, received a bright new cent as a wedding fee. The other day he met the bridegroom, who mentioned the circumstance, and said: My wife was a comparative stranger to me at the time we were united in wedlock. I had not learned her value, and paid accordingly. I find her a jewel; so here is an additional fee,' at the same time handing the astonished minister a twenty-dollar gold piece.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the Tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comple connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and reasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.

SEWING MACHINES

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.

Lessons may be taken if desired with a view to test the Machine, or to become better acquainted with it before deciding to purchase. Samples of work will be furnished upon application at

SEWING MACHINE.

THE SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Among sewing machines, those made by the Singer Manufacturing Company, rank with the highest. Their manufactering machines, have long been known as the best for manufacturing purposes. But within the past few years, they have given special attention to the production of a destined to win much favor in the HOUSEHOLD.

The machine which they now offer is quiet light-running, simple, fast, noiseless. Its accessories for

are simple and easily understood. Its delicate though enduring and tireless muscles of iron and steel, do all the work noiselessly, better, and few will deny, "Faster than hand can do it." They urge those wishing to purchase a machine, to examine all the other manufactures before buying, as it will, for itself, overcome all the objections to the other machines that can be brought against it. Machines on Hand for sale and exhibition, together with a full and complete assortment of
